

Francesca Di Matteo is a PhD student at the University of Teramo, Italy. She is also working for a law firm, "Sotgiu & Associati", in Teramo.

She holds a master degree in Law with honours (single cycle degree course–5 years) at the University of Teramo (2009-2014). She spent a semester of research as a visiting student at the Law School of the Erasmus Universiteit, Rotterdam (2013-2014).

She attended both the public and private international law sessions of The Hague Academy of International Law (2015). She also attended the 1st European Data Protection Law Summer School (2016), organised by the Brussels Privacy Hub.

Her research is focused on privacy and data protection in the digital era, surveillance, EU law, human rights, public international law.

